

"Land Ahoy!" one might say this term in Oaks class as we study the Victorian Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island" in our Literacy lessons. The children will carry out detailed analysis of the key characters as well as writing the next part of this exciting story of treasures and treachery (we'll need good maths skills in order to solve those Victorian word problems!). We also look forward to studying well known Victorian characters throughout the 1800's including Mary Seacole & Florence Nightingale...I wonder how many lamps they must have carried over the battlefields...many hundreds I'm sure!

Peeking into treasure chests and extensive map reading is bound to uncover some treasures such as paintings by Van Gogh and Turner in Art lessons and designing grand Victorian homes in which they can be displayed in our Design and Technology classes.

Victorian school life will also be touched upon during History lessons, and preparations made for a musical performance in our Victorian Music Hall. All of these lovely events will be documented in on screen presentations during our Computing lessons.

So, prepare your peg legs, feed those parrots and let's go on a swashbuckling adventure!
