Kent Improvement Adviser for Literacy

This document has been written to align with the new English programmes of study and Kent's Tracking Statements for Reading and Writing. Termly suggestions often build gradually in levels of challenge, but some may be used flexibly according to the school's chosen curriculum. For example, outings may occur at different times of year. The planner focuses on grammar and punctuation rather than spelling, but includes spelling where overlaps occur, for example with suffixes which relate to tense. Please note: the teaching of mathematical vocabulary should supplement other vocabulary, be ongoing and relevant to current mathematical learning.

It is intended to be used in an entirely flexible way, since the school's own curriculum and choice of text may require that the various elements of grammatical terminology be taught at different times of the school year. To some extent, apportioning the teaching and learning of specific elements is a contrived exercise, since opportunities may arise for discussion at any point in the school day. However, this sample planner provides support in making sure that all elements and terminology are addressed through each year group in a comprehensive and progressive way. This document may assist schools in their endeavour to achieve this.
